

Project Manager (m/f)

Job description

We are currently looking for a Project Manager (m/f) to strengthen our Antores team. As a growing consulting company we support our customers in our core competencies project management & project management office, interim management & - tasks as well as management coaching. The main activities thereby are in the various facets of project work, process optimization as well as execution of extra ordinary and exceptional line activities.

Your tasks:

As a Project Manager, you take on the independent leadership and responsibility of our client's projects with the objective to complete the project in a matter of time, budget, functionality and quality. The definition of project structures for large and complex projects, the creation and coordination of schedules with contractual vertices and project controlling (checks and guarantee of economic requirements and contractual obligations) are also part of your responsibilities. You plan the project start, determine the project participants, interfaces and dates, agree to achievements with the contractors and check intermediate results against milestones during the project, which, if necessary, clarify corrective measures with our customers and align the project status.

Our expectations:

- A Bachelor degree in economics, engineering, information technology or related disciplines.
- Experience in complex projects.
- Good knowledge of Project Management Scheme (time-cost-quality) including certificate and the ability to present economic and technical relationships at management level complete your profile.
- You ideally have relevant professional experience in industrial or consulting companies.
- You also have excellent communication and organizational skills as well as a quality, output-driven customer orientation.
- Very good German and English skills and a willingness to travel complete your profile.

What we offer:

- You work in a creative and young, flexible, communicative team.
- You will quickly gain responsibility in our customer projects and special tasks.
- The job will give you the space and opportunities to further develop your own personal and professional skills.
- As an employee you will have the opportunity to actively contribute and co-create to the progress of Antores GmbH.
- You will receive a fair salary linked with an interesting bonus model.
- As Antores GmbH we place importance to latest technical trends. You will benefit from the state of the art IT equipment.

Should you be interested in the position described above, we are looking forward to your application including your availability status and payment expectations.

Please contact us by using the contact form or send us a mail to our postal address.